

Hi, everyone!

We meet again!

Long time no see!

So, tomorrow is VE day!

For those who don't know what that is: VE day stands for VICTORY IN EUROPE! This represents the day Germany surrendered and the allied forces had won WWII. Ever since the 8th of May 1945 people all across Europe celebrate victory in Europe!

Look at the powerpoint save on here and you will know all about VE day!

So, as everyone is staying at home and it is VE day tomorrow here's some ideas on how to celebrate it whilst staying at home!

1. Cut out some bunting templates and colour them in with the Union Jack colours or any kind of VE day design and hang them up in or out of your home.
2. Set up a tea party with any snacks in the house and even have some fun with cake cutters by using them to cut out your sandwiches in different shapes. FUN!
3. COLOUR IN THE FRONT OF YOUR HOUSE WITH CHALK ON YOUR DRIVE ETC.
4. Have a sing along/dance to some old-fashioned music
5. Dress up with some war clothes-create an outfit
6. And, most importantly, at 11:00am have 2 minutes silence.
