

DAY 11

Hello everybody, I hope all is well and you had a nice weekend. Maybe you had a go at my crafty craft or you just chilled.

So, it is now the 11th day and today we have Mrs. Lockwood and Mrs. Barnes. Read on to find out, as I promised, how to make an Easter egg hunt.

Ankermoor's Outstanding O'Gara:

Over several days, Mrs. O'Gara has been preparing free school meal boxes. This is for children who receive free school meals. The boxes will be sent home containing a variety of different foods. Mrs. O'Gara is the main cook at Ankermoor and prepares all of the food for school dinners.

She has made pretty decorations for the boxes that are being sent home such as: tissue papered flowers, Happy Easter signs and the children who were at school that day made Easter cards. Mrs. Lockwood, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Boag, the children and Mr. Russell are all at school today, helping to make this a success.

Thanks to Mrs Smith (catering lead for sorting the produce) and a massive thanks to Mrs O'Gara for putting all of this together!

Home-made Easter egg hunt:

So, Easter's coming up and sadly we're not able to go and get chocolate Easter eggs and the Easter bunny may not be able to make it so here's a way to make an Easter egg hunt for everyone at home to enjoy their Easter Sunday.

Equipment:

- A few pieces of plain white paper
- Colours (crayons, gel pens etc.)
- Pencil
- Hiding places
- Family or another person to play with you

Method:

Step 1: Grab your piece of paper and your pencil then draw an oval on each one.

Step 2: If you'd like, you could draw a pattern or just colour it - GET COLOURING!

STEP 3: Now you can begin to hide them!

Step 4: Have fun and go find!

HAPPY HUNTING!!
HAPPY EASTER EVERYONE!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Mud, worms and planting!

Two weeks ago, on the Friday, Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Walk told us that we were going to be tidying up the garden area so that we could do some planting in a few weeks.

The day has come!

Today, with Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. Lockwood, we have had an exciting afternoon by planting potatoes, coriander, basil, parsley, rocket and marigold flowers. Some of them will take longer to grow than others. This garden is our responsibility to take care of by watering it, making sure nobody tries to dig up the planting beds. We will need to pick the plants out when they are ready and make sure there are no nasty weeds growing. The herbs and flowers were planted from a seed packet however the potatoes are growing from original potatoes! I know - crazy right ... no, not really!

Perfect potatoes that don't look so perfect!

You see, potatoes are quite fascinating because when they've been in the cupboard for quite some time they begin to grow small sprouts on them. First, they will start off small but then they will gradually grow into roots - this is nothing to worry about. They may look gross but really they're pretty perfect because if you have any spare space in your garden that you can plant these, go ahead! The roots on the potatoes will be planted in the ground and they will spread and create a whole new tub of delicious potatoes for you to enjoy.
