Dear families,

Each day, I watch the government's daily briefings but this week my heart sank when the death toll reached 100,000. I was both shocked and astonished by this figure.

I write to you to thank those of you who have been in touch with your positive praise and words of thanks to our school. I want to take the opportunity of thanking the whole staff for their dedication and resilience at this time, even though things feel a little close to home this time round.

The amazing efforts you, our parents, are going to at home to juggle your normal life and your child's education is hugely appreciated by us all, as we all work together to reduce contact; slow the virus spread and keep each other safe.

From the very beginning, we quickly rolled out our remote learning plan to our school community and we continue to shape it from your survey feedback and comments (see below). We have taken on board these survey comments and are looking at ways to engage the children further by using assignments and videos to model your child's learning. Thank you for all your positivity in this.

If you do have any concerns or suggestions, we will always take the time to listen and improve the service we provide to support you and the children at this challenging time. This is very important as normal life does not exist currently.

Please remember our school has been open since the global pandemic first started last March - we never closed. However, as this virus continues to spread, we ask that those who are using the school, to only use it when you need it as we all need to ensure contact is reduced as much as possible.

Keep going everyone - you are doing an amazing job. There will be a time when we will reflect on this incredible period in history and wonder how we did it. Our #teamankermoor will keep going on this journey for all of our beautiful children.

Take care #teamankermoor.

Stay safe,

Simon Russell
